ROME, Ga., July 25, 2011 -- Chris Piller, MD, Harbin Clinic Orthopaedic and Sports Medicine physician, has been promoted to active member of the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine (AOSSM), which was announced recently by the Society. Dr. Piller is Team Physician for Berry College and Rome High School. He also works with other physicians on the Harbin Clinic Sports Medicine Team as official team physicians for the Rome Braves.

AOSSM members are physicians and allied health professionals who demonstrate scientific leadership, involvement and dedication in the daily practice of sports medicine. Members must demonstrate continuing active research and educational activities in the field of sports medicine.

Harbin Clinic is Georgia's largest physician-owned organization with more than 200 providers in 20 locations throughout North West Georgia providing medical care in 34 specialties. The Harbin Clinic Sports Medicine team is composed of physicians from several specialties including orthopaedics and neurology who provide care to individuals and teams in the region.
